SUNDESTINATIONS™

Roam Private Game Reserve is located on 5000 hectares of scrubveld in the Great Karoo, an ancient and endless semi-desert landscape covering 400 000 square kilometres in its entirety. The looming Swartberg Mountains form the backdrop to Roam, while the surrounding archetypal landscapes of flat-topped koppies, deep rock-filled valleys, dry riverbeds littered with shell fragments and blankets of acacia scrub define the endless landscape.

The Great Karoo is a geological and archaeological marvel and has over a million years worth of human history dotted across its basin, with evidence of Stone Age tools being discovered in certain sub-regions. Archeologists and Palaeontologists find the Great Karoo an area of fascination, and the region is actually one of the oldest Stone Age sites in Africa.

The Great Karoo was once an expansive inland sea and is now millions of years worth of silt and other matter making up the Karoo system. As a result, traces of petrified bones and expansive fossil beds can be found scattered throughout the reserve.

This is the region where the original inhabitants, the San people, called home. Fragments of tools and their lifestyle can be discovered in hidden corners of the reserve, while their stories and mysterious are retold by locals in the area. Not only does the Karoo house a unique history, but is also a spectacular and unique biome home to fauna and flora that have had to adapt and survive to harsh desert conditions. Renosterveld, fynbos, dwarf-bulbs, succulents, geophytes and a wealth of desert flowers have learnt to survive in the contrasting temperatures of extreme heat and cold. And it's not only the flora that has adapted to this hardy arid environment. There are numerous desert dwelling species to spot while traversing Roam's low-lying plains, which include jackal, bat-eared foxes, giraffe, springbok, caracal, meerkats, reptiles, snakes; and over 240 species of bird.

Roam is a sanctuary for wildlife and continues to provide a true eco-aware wildlife experience with a focus on preserving and restoring the fauna and flora of an area previously tainted by over grazing and over farming. There are buffalo that have been introduced onto the traverse, and more recently the reserve has provided a safe-haven for cheetah. The Great Karoo is the land of mystery, wonder and the cradle of history - it is the essence of our beginnings.

It's an unassuming and humble expanse of wonder that offers an unsurpassed natural experience in one of the most fascinating regions in Africa. It's the place where the stark daylight skies will engulf your senses and the star-spangled night skies hypnotise your mind. Combine an exploratory trip along the famous tourist Route 62, and end your journey with discovering the natural wonders of Roam Private Game Reserve, the place of conservation and rehabilitation of indigenous fauna and flora.

SUGGESTED ITINERARY FOR ROAM SAFARI LODGE

Roam Safari Lodge likes to customise and tailor-make the safari experience; and does not have a rigid itinerary. However, there is a recommended itinerary for a two night stay. The below is the suggested itinerary for winter.

A similar itinerary in summer will be followed, but morning drives will be before breakfast, and there will be a high tea rather than lunch. Evening drives and dinners would move later in the day to account for warmer temperatures and more sunlight hours, allowing more time for guests to relax at the lodge.

Dinner time in summer might include al fresco dining, whereas in winter it will be around the dining table with a roaring fire in the adjoining lounge.

There are over 240 species of bird in the Great Karoo. A few of these species include the pale chanting goshawk, Karoo lark, cinnamon-breasted warbler, kestrels and Verreaux's eagle owls.

Roam is home to plenty of species of game including buffalo, giraffe and zebra. There are 13 species of antelope, one of which is the famous springbok. Smaller predators that thrive in their natural habitat include colonies of meerkat; black-backed jackal, caracal, Cape fox and bat-eared fox. Roam has also just recently introduced rescued cheetah into the reserve as part of a conservation project.

LOCATION

Located about 5 - 6 hours outside of Cape Town in the Great Karoo, Roam is the ideal wilderness destination for those seeking to explore the famous tourist route called "Route 62" and combine it with a nature and big game experience. Roam is malaria free and is located close to Cape Town, Oudtshoorn and the N2 Garden Route.

GETTING THERE

The most popular and scenic route is from Cape Town via Route 62. Although this is a popular tourist route, it is not the quickest way of getting to Roam. The quickest route to Roam should take 5hr 15min.

Take the N1 north bound (Paarl, Worcester, Laingsburg), 84km outside of Laingsburg turn right on the R407 toward Prince Albert. Upon reaching Prince Albert continue through the town and turn left onto Pastorie Str immediately after the PEP store (signage says Bush Pub). After 55km on the dirt road you will meet the N12 at a t-junction, turn left onto the N12 direction Beaufort West.

From this turn it is 22km to the Roam turn off. The dirt road to Roam is sign boarded with a large blue sign on the left hand side. Turn left at the sign and continue 3km to the electric gate, travel another 3km to the reserve gate where a representative will meet you.

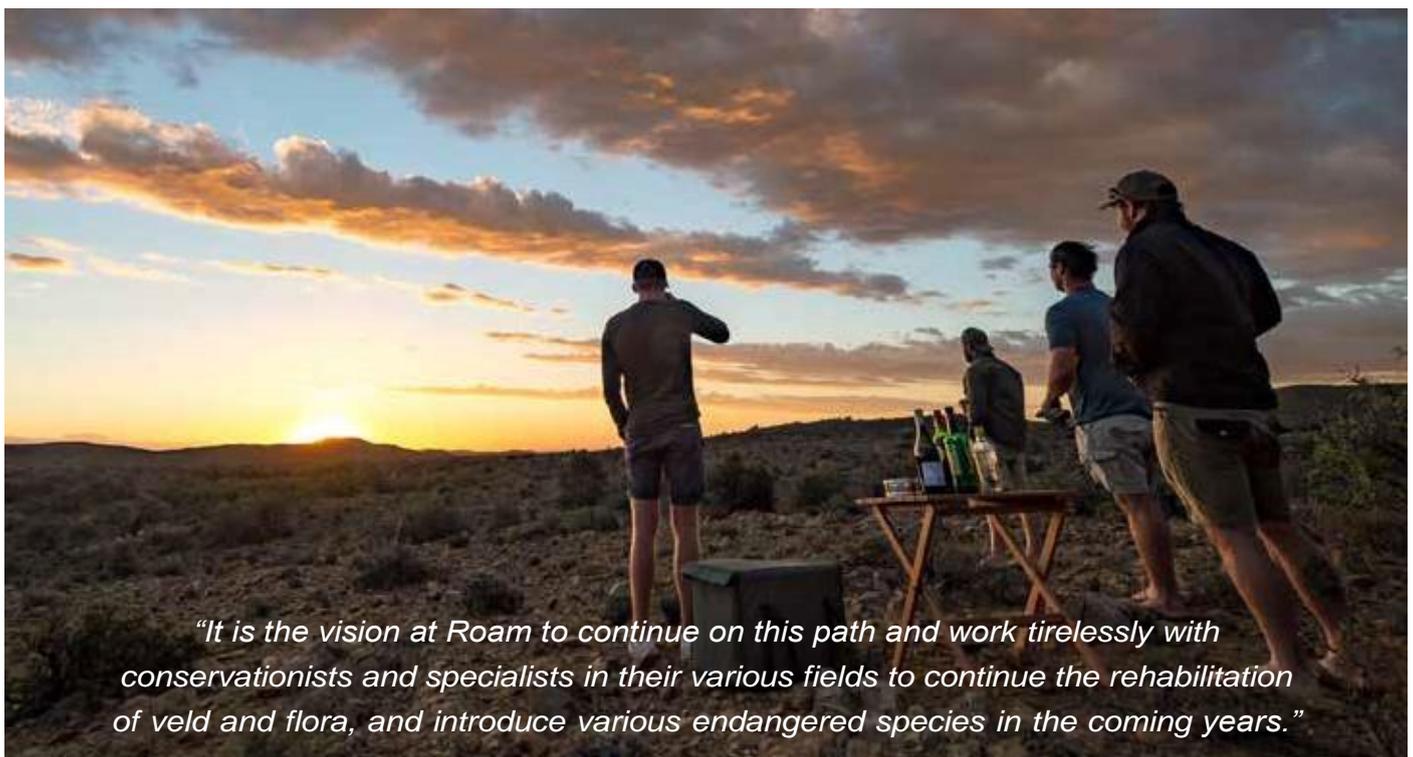

GENERAL TRAVEL INFO

What to Pack

Throughout the year, lightweight neutral-coloured clothing is recommended, as well as suitable walking shoes. Remember to pack cameras, chargers, binoculars, and other gadgets that might be useful on the trip. You will need suncream and hats to protect you from the searing African heat. During the winter months it can get bitterly cold. We recommend an assortment of beanies, fleeces and jackets.

Weather

Roam has extremes in temperature, with winter bringing in bitterly cold weather and summer bringing in searing temperatures. Winter is a time of relative drought, and the nights tend to be extremely cold with frost covering the ground first thing in the morning. The winter days are mild during the day, but certainly aren't hot. Summer temperatures can peak to 40°C, but generally hover around the 30°C mark.

"It is the vision at Roam to continue on this path and work tirelessly with conservationists and specialists in their various fields to continue the rehabilitation of veld and flora, and introduce various endangered species in the coming years."
